Tommy Charles with the On-Stage Series

Date and Time: Thursday, January 16 7:30 pm - 9:30 pm

Address: Esplanade Arts and Heritage Centre, 401 1 Street SE, Medicine Hat

Tommy Charles is bringing a classic touch to country with a soulful tone in his Canadian single, "Last Country Bar." The tune will throw listeners back to a Golden Era, while carrying sounds reminiscent of Alan Jackson. Written by some of N ashville's finest songsmiths, Kelly Anne Archer (Jason Aldean, Brett Young), Steven Moakler (Dierks Bentley, Jake Owen), and Mark Trussell (Jacob Banks, Blake Shelton). This follows up his lead single "Lookin' Like That" – both songs produced by Mitch Merrett. Born in the Montreal area and recently calling the Nashville of the north (Calgary, Alberta) home, Tommy appeared on the hit TV show, La Voix (The Voice). His talent and acclaim from the competition allowed him to build a fan base, and play to audiences live across the country. His shows are all about having a good time – centered in the heart and soul of country music.

There are so many moments peppered throughout the 30-year history of Canadian indie rock heroes Sloan that set them well apart from the pack. The band is credited as being a main instigator for the Canadian East Coast alternative scene of the early 90s, garnering comparisons to the Seattle Grunge movement on the opposite coast.

Comprised of bassist and vocalist Chris Murphy, guitarists/vocalists Jay Ferguson and Patrick Pentland, and drummer/vocalist Andrew Scott, Sloan has amassed an outstanding collection of over 250 songs and more than 30 singles with airplay at Canadian Rock Radio. Sloan has received nine Juno Award nominations and won for Best Alternative Album in 1997. The band was named one of Canada's top five bands of all-time in a CBC critics poll.
